1. Introduction

Corporate governance is a set of systems, policies and procedures which define the way in which a company is governed. It establishes the objectives of a company ensuring that the administration and management of a company is undertaken in a manner which is consistent with the interests of the company's shareholders. Additionally, it establishes a system for monitoring and evaluating the achievement of those objectives.

The ASX Recommendations define corporate governance as "the framework of rules, relationships, systems and processes within and by which authority is exercised and controlled in corporations".

Corporate governance policies will vary from company to company as there is no single system of corporate governance that is applicable to all companies. A company must establish systems, processes and policies that help it achieve its objectives considering the nature and size of that company.

As a result, the Group has adopted policies to ensure that it has high-quality and transparent systems of corporate governance in place. These policies are incorporated in this Charter and are prepared in line with the ASX Recommendations which the Board recognises as best practice guidelines.

The Charter incorporates the following:

- (a) Board Policy – see section 2;
- (b) Diversity Policy – see section 3;
- (c) Audit & Risk Committee Charter – see section 4;
- (d) Nomination & Remuneration Committee Charter – see section 5;
- (e) Continuous Disclosure Policy - see section 6;
- (f) Code of Conduct – see section 7;
- (g) Share Trading Policy – see section 8;
- (h) Insider Trading Policy – see section 9;
- (i) Risk Management Policy – see section 10;
- (j) Whistleblower Policy – see section 11; and
- (k) Anti-Bribery and Corruption Policy – see section 12

6. Continuous Disclosure Policy

6.1. Introduction

The objective of the Continuous Disclosure Policy is to ensure that the Company complies with its continuous disclosure obligations under the Corporations Act and the Listing Rules. Additionally, this Continuous Disclosure Policy aims to:

- (a) ensure that information issued by the Company is issued to Shareholders and the market in a timely manner;
- (b) to promote investor confidence in the integrity of the Group and its securities; and
- (c) to generally promote investor protection and protection of the market.

6.2. Continuous disclosure

An ASX listed company is subject to the continuous disclosure requirements under the Corporations Act and the Listing Rules, in addition to the periodic and specific disclosure requirements in the Listing Rules.

The continuous disclosure obligation is contained in Listing Rule 3.1 and states that the continuous disclosure obligation will be breached by an issuer who intentionally, recklessly or negligently fails to notify ASX of information that:

- (a) is not generally available; and
- (b) a reasonable person would expect, if it were generally available, to have a material effect on the price or value of its securities.

Contravention of continuous disclosure obligations can extend to a person (director or executive) who is involved in a contravention of the continuous disclosure regime by a disclosing entity.

6.3. Disclosure exception

The continuous disclosure obligation is not applicable where:

- (a) a reasonable person would not expect the information to be disclosed;
- (b) the information is confidential and ASX has not formed the view that the information has ceased to be confidential; and
- (c) one or more of the following applies:
 - (i) it would be a breach of a law to disclose the information;
 - (ii) the information concerns an incomplete proposal or negotiation;
 - (iii) the information comprises matter of supposition or is insufficiently definite to warrant disclosure;

- (iv) the information is generated for internal management purposes of the Company; or
- (v) the information is a trade secret.

To rely on the exception, the above three requirements must be satisfied. Should one of the exceptions no longer be applicable then the Company can no longer rely on these exceptions and must disclose the information immediately to the market.

6.4. Compliance

The Company will ensure compliance with this Continuous Disclosure Policy and will:

- (a) disclose price sensitive information to ASX as soon as it becomes aware of that information;
- (b) ensure that the information is not false, misleading, or deceptive so as to avoid creating what would constitute a false market; and
- (c) ensure that the information is disclosed clearly (expressed objectively), accurately and is complete.

In doing so the Company will ensure compliance with Listing Rule 15.7 that requires an entity not to release information anyone until it has given the information to ASX and has received an acknowledgement from ASX that the information has been released to the market.

6.5. Price Sensitive Information

The Company will ensure that all price sensitive information is released to the market in accordance with the Listing Rules and in accordance with the Announcements Procedure in section 4.9 of this Continuous Disclosure Policy.

Price sensitive information is information that:

- (a) a reasonable person would expect will have “a material effect on the value or price” of securities; and
- (b) if the information were publicly available “would, or would be likely to, influence persons who commonly invest in securities in deciding whether to acquire or dispose of those securities”.

Price sensitive information includes information relating to a takeover bid or a merger, proposed acquisition or disposal of a material asset, material variations in earnings or profits from previously published forecasts, a material change to the business plan, loss of a material contract and major litigation.

6.6. Loss of Confidentiality

Where confidentiality is lost as a result of a specific rumour or media comment then the Company will respond to media speculations to the extent that such responses are required to correct or prevent a false market. In determining whether confidentiality is lost the Company will look at previous announcements it had made and will consider any likely reaction of the market or particular investors to such speculation.

- (c) if an announcement of price sensitive information is required the Company Secretary will prepare a draft announcement;
- (d) the Company Secretary will provide the draft announcement to the Board for approval;
- (e) following the approval of an announcement of price sensitive information by the Board, the Company Secretary will then lodge the announcement with ASX electronically; and

6.10. No Comments Policy

The Group has adopted a "no comments" policy in relation to any market speculation or rumours which must be observed by all Executives and Employees at all times. In light of this, the Company may issue an announcement in response to a market speculation or rumour where it is necessary to do so to eliminate the possibility of a false market or contravention of the Listing Rules.

Where an Executive or Employee is approached by the media or any analysts or other external parties with respect to providing any information about the Group the general policy to be observed is a "no comments" policy and that Employee will notify the Company Secretary as soon as possible.

As part of the Company's management of investor relations it may conduct briefings with analysts or investors from time to time. However, the Group's policy for conducting these briefings will be to ensure that no material price sensitive information is announced prior to it being announced to the market. No briefing will be held during the pre-results periods. In addition, a procedure will be in place for the conduct of the briefings which will include that at any briefing two Employees must be present, notes of the briefing must be kept by an Employee attending and any information to be used at briefings must be signed off by at least two Directors prior to the briefing.

Where in the course of a briefing a question is raised that refers to price sensitive information that has not been previously disclosed the Executive or Employee must decline to answer the question but take the question on notice and advise the Board and the Company Secretary of the question.

See the Insider Trading Policy in section 7 for further details.

6.11. Responding to Analyst Reports and Forecasts

If a draft report has been sent to the Group for comments the report should be forwarded directly to the Company Secretary. The Company will not endorse any reports, and will restrict any comments to factual matters and matters which have been previously disclosed to ASX. See the Insider Trading Policy in section 7 for further details.

6.12. Trading Halts

The Company in certain circumstances may need to request a trading halt from ASX. The Chairman in consultation with the Board will make decisions in relation to trading halts and the only personnel authorised to request a trading halt on behalf of the Company will be the Chairman and the Company Secretary.

6.13. Advisors

To ensure compliance with its listing obligations, the Company may from time to time require advisors to advise on its adherence to the Continuous Disclosure Policy. The Company may ask such advisors to sign a confidentiality agreement before disclosing any information to them.

6.14. Contravention of Policy

Non-compliance with the continuous disclosure obligations may constitute a breach of the Corporations Act and the Listing Rules. This may result in fines for the Company, personal liabilities for Directors and other officers and damage to the Group's reputation. The Company takes continuous disclosure very seriously and will not tolerate any deviation from the Continuous Disclosure Policy by any Employee and will take disciplinary action against any Employee where a contravention arises. Disciplinary action may include dismissal.

6.15. Shareholder Communications

The Board aims to keep Shareholders informed of all major developments affecting the Group's activities and its state of affairs through announcements to ASX, releases to the media and dispatch of financial reports. All such announcements are also placed on the Company's website at <https://geneticsignatures.com/>

These include:

In this section 5.8, "exceptional circumstances" means severe financial hardship, a court order (or court enforceable undertaking), or some other overriding legal or regulatory requirement, to transfer or sell shares in the Company, or other circumstances that may be deemed exceptional by the Chairman. For example, a Restricted Person may be in severe financial hardship if he or she has a pressing financial commitment that cannot otherwise be satisfied.

The Chairman may not give clearance under the exception in section 5.8 if there is a matter about which there is inside information in relation to shares in the Company (whether or not the Restricted Person knows about the matter) when the Restricted Person requests clearance or proposes to deal in shares in the Company.

The Chairman will decide if circumstances are exceptional.

Any clearance given by the Chairman in accordance with section 5.8 must be in writing (which may be in the form of an email). The Chairman must determine, and specify in the written clearance, the maximum duration of the clearance.

9. Insider Trading Policy

9.1. Policy

The Board has established the following Insider Trading Policy to apply to trading in the Company's shares on ASX.

This policy applies to all Directors, Executives and Employees. All Directors, Executives and Employees must not deal in the Company's shares while in possession of price sensitive information.

In addition, the General Share Trading Policy (see above) sets out additional restrictions which apply to Directors and Executives of the Company.

The law imposes a number of significant restrictions on employees of a company when they deal in their company's shares. As fiduciaries, these persons must not utilise their position for their own gain or for the gain of any person other than the company.

The Corporations Act imposes severe penalties (both criminal and civil) on persons who conduct insider trading activities. Any perception of improper conduct by Employees also has the potential to substantially damage the Company's reputation.

The Company has established this Insider Trading Policy in an effort to prevent the incidence of insider trading in the Company's shares. This Insider Trading Policy provides a general summary of the law in Australia in relation to insider trading, and as such operates in addition to the legal requirements. It is the personal responsibility of each Director, Executive and Employee to comply with this Insider Trading Policy.

9.2. Overview of the insider trading provisions in the Corporations Act

It is illegal for anybody to deal in any shares of a body corporate (including the Company), when in possession of information that the person knows, or ought reasonably to know:

- (a) is not generally available (including information that the Company has not disclosed to the market in accordance with the Company's Continuous Disclosure Policy); and
- (b) might have material effect on the price or value of those shares if it was generally available (Inside Information).

This prohibition extends to procuring another person to deal, and, in the case of shares of listed corporations, extends to communicating the inside information to another person, if the person knows, or ought reasonably to know, that the other person would, or would be likely to, deal in the shares in question or procure another person to do so. To communicate Inside Information to another person is also an offence which carries both civil and criminal penalties.

An Employee or Executive in possession of Inside Information about the Company has a duty to keep that information confidential and must not in any way disclose or communicate that information to any person.

9.3. Dealing with security analysts, institutional investors and journalists

An Employee or Executive may be exposed to others outside the Company such as security analysts, institutional investors and journalists. It is important that all Directors, Executives and Employees be aware that selective disclosure of non-public information may result in a breach of the insider trading rules.

It is important to emphasise that it is the mere fact of conveyance of the material non-public information that gives rise to liability, not the manner in which it is conveyed.

It is possible to convey information in breach of this Insider Trading Policy and the Corporations Act by expressing subjective attitudes about the Company's performance or by calling attention to selective information not available as an aggregate to the general public. It is essential to avoid the indirect conveyance of information by any means whatsoever.

If during the course of a discussion with any analyst, journalist or other outsider, material non-public information concerning the Company is disclosed, inadvertently or otherwise, the recipient of the information should be informed of its non-public nature and cautioned against its use unless and until the Company has made full public disclosure of the information. The Company Secretary should be notified of the situation immediately so that a decision can be made regarding disclosure of the information.

No public comments should be made regarding any previously undisclosed operating results or other developments unless authorised by the Company.

10. Risk Management Policy

10.1. Background

While the Board assumes ultimate responsibility for the risk management of the Company, it has delegated the oversight responsibility for risk management and internal control of major risks of the Company to the Audit and Risk Management Committee.

Executive management is responsible for co-ordination of matters for management of operational and business risk.

All employees have a responsibility to identify, report and/or manage risk as it arises within the work environment.

Material risks and the effectiveness of risk management plans must be escalated to executive management, relevant Board committees and/or the Board as appropriate.

10.3. Key Risk Categories

The Company has developed frameworks to provide structured and disciplined processes for managing key risks.

(a) Operational Risk

Operational risk is defined as the risk of loss resulting from inadequate or failed internal processes, people and systems, or from external events. This definition includes legal risk, and the risk of reputational loss, however excludes strategic risk.

The Board is responsible for exercising governance over operational risk through the management of the operational risk management framework, policy development, operational risk measurement and capital allocation and reporting of operational risk issues to executive committees. Management is responsible for implementation of the operational risk management framework, including the identification, analysis, assessment and treatment of operational risks on a day to day basis.

(b) Strategic Risk

Strategic risk is defined as the potential for loss arising from a failure in the Company's strategies. These include strategies designed to address or anticipate changes in the competitive, client, political or regulatory environments.

(c) Financial Risk

This is the risk of financial loss due to unexpected movements in volume, profit margin, and operating expenses arising from unexpected changes in the business environment, client preferences and/ or competitor actions. It includes the risk that the Company has insufficient capacity to manage its capital, fund increases in assets, or is unable to meet its payment obligations as they fall due.

10.4. Risk Appetite

The Company's risk appetite is set by the Board and integrated within its strategic objectives. The framework provides an enforceable risk statement on the amount of risk the Company is willing to accept, which management operates within at all times. It supports strategic and core business activities and customer relationships, ensuring that

- (a) management focus is brought to bear on key and emerging risk issues and mitigating actions; and
- (b) risk is linked to the business by informing, guiding and empowering the business in executing strategy.

10.5. Annual Review

The Audit and Risk Management Committee intends to review the Company's risk management framework at least annually to satisfy itself that it continues to be sound.

The Board will disclose in each annual report for the Company, whether such a review has taken place.

11. Whistleblower Policy

11.1. Purpose of the Policy

Genetic Signatures and its associated entities (GSL, the Company or the Group) prides itself on the high standard of integrity in the organisation. To ensure this is maintained and to reflect the Group's commitment to this high standard the Board has approved this policy, that will serve to:

- a) Foster a culture of openness and honesty;
- b) Encourage the reporting of suspected or actual wrongdoing, and in the process deter wrongdoing;
- c) Provide guidance on the process for reporting concerns and how those will be investigated; and
- d) Give any person reporting their concerns assurance that it can be done safely, securely and with confidence they will be protected and supported, even if they are mistaken.

11.2. Who does the policy apply to?

The following people are classified as eligible whistleblowers (disclosers):

- Past and present directors, officers, and employees of GSL, and partners and relatives of those individuals;
- Contractors, suppliers, and consultants (including their employees) to GSL.

11.3. What is covered by the policy?

Reportable information is that which a discloser has reasonable grounds to suspect behaviours or activities have or will occur that are:

- Fraudulent (dishonest conduct that causes actual or potential financial loss, or results in an unjust advantage to GSL or any other person or organisation);
- Corrupt (includes soliciting, accepting, or offering a bribe, money laundering, facilitation payments or other such benefits);
- Dishonest or unethical (behaviour that breaches GSL policies and code of conduct and that may be detrimental to the interests of GSL including damage to GSL's reputation);
- Illegal (including theft, drug sale or use, violence or threatened violence, criminal acts);
- Breaches of laws or regulations (e.g. tax, corporation's law, regulations governing product, quarantine laws, trade sanctions, etc.);
- A serious danger to health or safety of GSL staff or the public;
- A serious danger or risk to the environment;
- A gross mismanagement or waste of GSL resources;
- Concealment of any of the above.

Reportable information does not include “personal work-related grievances”. These are generally grievances relating to a GSL staff member’s current or former employment or engagement that have implications for that person personally, but do not have broader implications for the GSL group, nor do they concern conduct, or alleged conduct, referred to at sections 1317AA(5)(c)-(f) of the Corporations Act 2001. For example, an interpersonal conflict between staff, or a decision relating to employment conditions. These grievances are to be handled through separate mechanisms.

11.4. How do I raise a reportable event?

Whistleblowers have several channels through which Reportable Information may be delivered. For GSL employees they should first consider raising their concerns about Reportable Information with their manager as this should make it easier to address the disclosure. If you have any concerns about what is proper conduct for yourself or others you should also raise your concern with your manager. Your supervisor is then obligated to report the allegations to a Whistleblower Protection Officer who is responsible for ensuring the matter will be dealt with promptly and they may commence an investigation or appoint an investigator to examine your concerns.

It is expected that all employees and associates will report any known, suspected, or potential cases of Reportable Information.

If an individual is concerned or uncomfortable about raising the Reportable Information with their manager, it may be done through the following channels:

- To a Whistleblower Investigation Officer (WIO) (Chief Executive Officer, Company Secretary, or Audit & Risk Committee Chairman); or
- Anonymously by completing the Reportable Conduct form and lodging with the Company.

Disclosers are entitled to the protections offered under this policy if Reportable Information is raised with any of the prescribed individuals or organisations referred to in section 1317AI (5)(b) of the Corporations Act 2001, including but not limited to:

- ASIC, Australian Federal Police, or other prescribed Commonwealth authorities;
- An auditor of the Group;
- Legal practitioners;
- Journalists or a member of Commonwealth, State or Territory governments (only if it satisfies a disclosure under the definition as a “public interest disclosure¹” or “emergency disclosure²” as defined in the ASIC Regulatory Guide 270).

¹ Public interest disclosure is a disclosure where at least 90 days have passed since the discloser made the disclosure to a prescribed Commonwealth body such as ASIC; the discloser does not have reasonable grounds to believe that actions is being, or has been taken; the discloser has reasonable grounds to believe that further disclosure is in the public interest, and; the discloser has given written notice to the same prescribed Commonwealth body that received the original notice that the discloser intends to make a public interest disclosure.

² Emergency disclosure is a disclosure where the discloser has previously made a disclosure to a prescribed Commonwealth body such as ASIC; the discloser has reasonable grounds to believe the information concerns a substantial and imminent danger to health or safety of one or more persons or to the natural environment; the discloser has given written notice to the same prescribed Commonwealth body that received the original notice that the discloser intends to make an emergency disclosure, and; the extent of information disclosed in the emergency disclosure is no greater than is necessary to inform he journalist or parliamentarian of the substantial and imminent danger.

11.5. How will the Reportable Event be investigated?

Investigations will be given priority and therefore will be conducted in a manner that is timely, confidential, objective, and fair. The information provided will be held in strict confidence and stored securely.

A WIO will be assigned to your case who will be, insofar as possible, independent of the department in which the Whistleblower is employed and of any person(s) to whom the complaint relates. This may be an external party. The WIO must be an individual who is not implicated in the Report. The WIO has responsibility for conducting the investigation, keeping the Whistleblower informed where possible, and monitoring the wellbeing of the Whistleblower.

Genetic Signatures' response to a report will vary depending on the nature of the report, including the amount of information that is disclosed. It may not be possible to investigate a disclosure if Genetic Signatures is not able to contact the Whistleblower (for example, if a disclosure has been made anonymously without a means of contacting the Whistleblower).

Any respondent(s) who are alleged to be involved in any Reportable Information will be afforded the opportunity to respond to the allegations as and when required by principles of procedural fairness and subject to any applicable confidentiality requirements.

The method for documenting and reporting the findings of an investigation will depend on the nature of the report. Generally, at the conclusion of the investigation, the Investigating Officer will submit a written report of his or her findings to the Genetic Signatures Audit & Risk Committee. Any such report is the property of Genetic Signatures and will not be provided to an Eligible Protected Person or any other individual the subject of a report.

11.6. Treatment of individuals

Genetic Signatures will keep your report confidential and will only disclose information regarding your identity or information that could be likely to identify you in line with any consent provided by you or as otherwise permitted by law. Reports will be received and treated sensitively and seriously.

A Discloser will be supported and protected such that they will not suffer any personal or financial hardship, as will any person assisting with an investigation. Support is available if required from the CEO or suitable representative. No retaliation or adverse action such as dismissal, harassment or discrimination will be tolerated. There are limits to the level of protection that can be offered to Whistleblowers who are not directly employed by Genetic Signatures, however the Company is committed to providing any support that it is reasonably able to considering the circumstances.

12. Anti-Bribery & Corruption Policy

12.1. Introduction

Genetic Signatures values its reputation as an honest, law-abiding corporate citizen that will compete for business based on the merits of its product offering wherever any one of the Group companies may operate. GSL is committed to doing so without the use of bribery or unfair business practices. This Policy has been developed in conjunction with Genetic Signatures' Code of Conduct and reflects our values to ensure that Genetic Signatures and its Employees observe the highest standards of fair dealing, honesty and integrity.

12.2. Who does the Policy apply to?

The Board of Directors of Genetic Signatures Limited has adopted this Anti-Bribery Policy. The Policy applies to all directors, the senior executive team, officers and employees, contractors and consultants of all entities within the Genetic Signatures group of companies ("Employees"). This policy applies to related entities within Genetic Signatures, as applicable and subject to the entity complying with its regulatory and licensing obligations.

12.3. What is Bribery and Corruption?

Bribery may be defined as an offer, inducement, promise or acceptance of any financial or other advantage that influences or has the potential to influence another party to act improperly in the performance of their duties for the purpose of obtaining or retaining business or commercial advantage. An act of bribery is designed to improperly influence another individual to act dishonestly in the discharge of their duties even if no business advantage is actually received.

Bribes may include but are not limited to the following:

- A promise, whether direct or indirect, authorisation of, or offering anything of value;
- An offer of a kickback, loan, fee, reward or other advantage;
- Donations, aid or voting;

This also covers offers, inducements etc to business partners or relatives of government officials.

12.4. Bribery and Corruption Laws and Enforcement

Bribery is a criminal offence and penalties can be severe for both Genetic Signatures and individual employees. Acts of bribery may result in prosecution at home or in other jurisdictions.

Most countries where Genetic Signatures operates have laws prohibiting bribery and corruption, including Australia (Criminal Code Act 1995), United States of America (Foreign Corrupt Practices Act 1977) and United Kingdom (Bribery Act 2010).

An Employee who offers or accepts a bribe is in breach of the Genetic Signatures Anti-Bribery & Corruption Policy. A breach of applicable law and/or this policy will be regarded by Genetic Signatures as serious misconduct which may lead to disciplinary action, including termination. Genetic Signatures may also report any serious misconduct to relevant authorities, including law enforcement authorities.

12.5. Identified Risk Areas

a) Gifts, entertainment and hospitality

Gifts, entertainment and hospitality comprise payments (even those of potentially nominal value) or gestures provided to third parties of Genetic Signatures or received by Genetic Signatures Employees in the course of conducting Genetic Signatures' business.

These do not constitute a bribe provided the activity complies with all legislative requirements, and they are transparent, culturally appropriate and incapable of being considered an inducement to act dishonestly or in breach of any duty. This Policy allows for reasonable and appropriate gifts, entertainment and hospitality to be offered or received for the purposes of:

- establishing or maintaining good business relationships;
- improving or maintaining Genetic Signatures' image or reputation; or
- marketing or presenting Genetic Signatures' products and/or services effectively.

Employees should apply the following guidelines to help determine what is an acceptable gift, entertainment or hospitality activity.

- What is the intent or purpose of the gift or activity? Is it to influence a third party to gain or retain business advantage, to reward that advantage?
- What is the appearance of the activity? Could the act of giving the gift or providing the entertainment or hospitality be construed as being for an improper purpose even if it is lawful, reasonable and for a proper purpose. Consider how it could be reported in the media.
- Cash or gift cards are never appropriate.
- Often small gifts are offered by suppliers, or gifted to existing customers as a token of appreciation or thanks for assistance, such as a Christmas hamper. Before accepting or giving such gifts consider if this is intended to, or may look like, creating an obligation to the giver or receiver. If in doubt don't accept it.
- If unsure, seek approval from CEO, CFO or another senior manager.

For avoidance of doubt, any gift or offer of hospitality with a value greater than $250 (AUD, USD, GBP or EUR, depending on the jurisdiction) must be pre-approved by CEO, CFO or a Director.

b) Donations

Donations to political parties are not general practice for Genetic Signatures. Any donation of this nature may only be done with the prior approval of the Genetic Signatures Board of Directors and must be for a proper purpose.

Charitable donations on behalf of Genetic Signatures of a small value require pre-approval by CEO. Larger value charitable donations (>$1,000) will be escalated to the Audit & Risk Committee for approval. These donations must be in accordance with local laws and customs.

12.6. How to Raise a Concern

Genetic Signatures Employees must ensure they read, understand and comply with this policy. All Employees are responsible for the prevention, detection and reporting of bribery or corrupt behaviour. If an Employee believes or suspects a conflict with this policy, they must notify CEO, CFO or a Director, or follow the process in the Genetic Signatures' Whistleblower Policy, as set out in Section 9.

Genetic Signatures relies on its Employees to maintain its culture of honesty and integrity, and this is achieved through open communication. Employees may be concerned about repercussions from making a report. Genetic Signatures will support any person who raises genuine concerns in good faith under this Policy, even if mistaken.
